What Are the Gargoyles in Fable 2?

Scattered across the world of Albion are 50 small, green stone gargoyles. They are not just static statues; they talk. Every time you approach one, it will shout a sarcastic or insulting remark, challenging you to find and destroy it. These gargoyles are part of the "Gargoyle" quest, which you can pick up in the game. Your task is to shoot them with a ranged weapon or blast them with magic. The real challenge is that many are perched in hard-to-reach places, hidden behind structures, or placed in areas you might not normally explore.

Why Collect All Gargoyles?

Beyond the satisfaction of silencing the rude statues, there are excellent reasons to pursue every single Fable 2 Gargoyle Locations. The primary reward is the Trophaeologist achievement or trophy, which adds to your Gamerscore. More importantly, after you have destroyed a certain number of gargoyles, you can return to the gargoyle quest giver to claim rewards. However, the ultimate prize comes when you have smashed all 50. You will be rewarded with the Daichi, a powerful katana that is fantastic for melee-focused heroes.
