This article will take you through her amazing life, from her first big break on a kids' TV show to becoming one of the most famous people on the planet. We will explore her childhood, her music, her movies, and the wonderful ways she helps others. Get ready to learn all about this talented star!

Early Life and the Start of a Dream

Selena Marie Gomez was born on July 22, 1992, in Grand Prairie, Texas. That means she is a Cancer zodiac sign, which is often associated with being caring and creative! Even as a very little girl, Selena loved to perform. She would watch her favorite TV shows and movies and then act them out in her living room. Her mom, Mandy, noticed how much Selena enjoyed entertaining people.

When Selena was just seven years old, she went on a popular kids' show called Barney & Friends. This was her very first TV role, and she played a character named Gianna. Can you imagine being on TV when you were in first grade? On this show, Selena met another young actress who would also become a huge star: Demi Lovato. They became best friends right away. Even though she was young, Selena learned a lot about acting and working hard on set during her time on Barney.

Life wasn't always easy for young Selena. Her parents split up when she was five, and she lived with her mom. Her mom worked very hard to take care of her, and sometimes money was tight. But Selena never gave up on her dream. She kept going to auditions and taking acting classes. She believed that if she worked hard, she would get her big break. This perseverance is one of the most important Selena Gomez facts for kidsto remember: even when things are tough, you can still follow your passion.

Rocketing to Fame: From Disney Channel to the Big Screen

Selena's big break came in 2007. She was cast as the main character, Alex Russo, on a brand-new Disney Channel show called Wizards of Waverly Place. The show was about a family of wizards who ran a sandwich shop in New York City. Alex was a fun, funny, and sometimes mischievous teenage wizard. Kids everywhere loved the show because it was magical and hilarious. *Wizards of Waverly Place*was a huge hit and ran for four seasons. It won several awards, including an Emmy Award for Outstanding Children's Program. That is a really big deal!

While she was starring on TV, Selena also started acting in movies. She played in Another Cinderella Story and Ramona and Beezus, where she played a character based on the famous books by Beverly Cleary. Later, she voiced a character in the animated movie Hotel Transylvania and its sequels. She played Mavis, a teenage vampire. Kids loved her voice acting, and these movies became family favorites. One really fun Selena Gomez fact for kids bought her mom a car as a surprise after her first big paycheck from Disney!

Selena the Singer: Creating Catchy Pop Music

Selena didn't just stop at acting. She also had a dream of being a singer. In 2009, she formed a band called Selena Gomez & the Scene. Their first album, Kiss & Tell, had a hit song called "Naturally." It was a dance-pop song that everyone loved. The band released two more albums, A Year Without Rain and When the Sun Goes Down, before Selena decided to go solo. As a solo artist, she released hit albums like Stars Dance, Revival, and Rare. Songs like "Come & Get It," "Good for You," and "Lose You to Love Me" became massive hits all over the world.

Her music often talks about growing up, friendship, and being true to yourself. For kids who are learning about Selena, her songs are full of positive messages. She also makes sure her music videos are creative and fun to watch. She has millions of fans who love her singing on platforms like Spotify and YouTube. It is a wonderful Selena Gomez fact for kidsthat her song "Who Says" is all about loving yourself and not listening to mean people. It is a great song to listen to when you need a confidence boost.

Using Her Voice for Good: A Real-Life Hero

One of the best things about Selena Gomez is how much she cares about other people. She uses her fame to help kids and adults who are struggling. She has been very open about her own health challenges, including having lupus (a disease that affects the immune system) and anxiety. By talking about these things, she helps other kids feel less alone. She wants everyone to know that it's okay to ask for help and to take care of your mental health.

Selena is also a big supporter of many charities. She has worked with the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) to help kids in need all around the world. She has traveled to countries like Nepal and Kenya to meet children and learn about their lives. In 2020, she started a mental health platform called Wondermind. This website helps people find information and support for their feelings and emotions. She also started the Rare Impact Fund, which raises money to give people better access to mental health services. For kids, this is one of the most inspiring Selena Gomez facts for kids: you can use your voice, no matter how big or small, to make the world a kinder place.

Selena's Favorite Things and Fun Hobbies
